I Am Martin Luther King Jr by Brad Meltzer

Martin Luther King Jr had a dream in his childhood: “I dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character.”

On March 28, 1968, Martin Luther King Jr was assassinated in Memphis. The world mourned his loss, and his memory lived on. The Civil Rights Act of 1968 and the Voting Rights Act of 1965 were passed, but the fight for equality continued.

Martin Luther King Jr's legacy is one of hope and inspiration. He taught us that we can overcome our differences and work together for a better future.

May 3rd, 2020 - Martin Luther King Jr was born on August 1, 1929. He was a civil rights leader and theicks in the 1960s. His leadership and activism helped to bring about significant changes in American society.

His dream of a world where people are judged by the content of their character and not by their race is still relevant today. We must continue to work towards a world where all people are treated equally and with respect.

Martin Luther King Jr's birthday is celebrated as a federal holiday in the United States. It is a day to remember his life and achievements, and to honor his legacy.

May 3rd, 2020 - Martin Luther King Jr Day celebrates the life and civil rights work of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. It is a day to remember his legacy and to honor his memory.

His dream of a world where people are judged by the content of their character and not by their race is still relevant today. We must continue to work towards a world where all people are treated equally and with respect.

May 3rd, 2020 - Martin Luther King Jr was a civil rights leader and theicks in the 1960s. His leadership and activism helped to bring about significant changes in American society.

His dream of a world where people are judged by the content of their character and not by their race is still relevant today. We must continue to work towards a world where all people are treated equally and with respect.

May 3rd, 2020 - Martin Luther King Jr Day celebrates the life and civil rights work of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. It is a day to remember his legacy and to honor his memory.

His dream of a world where people are judged by the content of their character and not by their race is still relevant today. We must continue to work towards a world where all people are treated equally and with respect.

May 3rd, 2020 - Martin Luther King Jr was born on August 1, 1929. He was a civil rights leader and theicks in the 1960s. His leadership and activism helped to bring about significant changes in American society.

His dream of a world where people are judged by the content of their character and not by their race is still relevant today. We must continue to work towards a world where all people are treated equally and with respect.

May 3rd, 2020 - Martin Luther King Jr Day celebrates the life and civil rights work of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. It is a day to remember his legacy and to honor his memory.

His dream of a world where people are judged by the content of their character and not by their race is still relevant today. We must continue to work towards a world where all people are treated equally and with respect.

May 3rd, 2020 - Martin Luther King Jr was born on August 1, 1929. He was a civil rights leader and theicks in the 1960s. His leadership and activism helped to bring about significant changes in American society.

His dream of a world where people are judged by the content of their character and not by their race is still relevant today. We must continue to work towards a world where all people are treated equally and with respect.

May 3rd, 2020 - Martin Luther King Jr Day celebrates the life and civil rights work of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. It is a day to remember his legacy and to honor his memory.

His dream of a world where people are judged by the content of their character and not by their race is still relevant today. We must continue to work towards a world where all people are treated equally and with respect.